From the Editor’s Desk

In this issue the reader will find a useful mix of narrative articles, research guides, and source material. We begin a two part series on medicine in Muscogee County, continue our series on the Bethel Baptist Church membership (black and white) and the Riverdale Cemetery records and bring to conclusion the brides index for Talbot County.

Your attention is particularly called to the research assistance provided by Mary Jane Galer and Daniel Olds. If you are researching any Muscogee County roots, you may find direction to sources from them. Also, please note Dan Olds’ call for assistance in extending the indexing of death notices in local newspapers 1873-1918. Volunteer your help in this important and valuable project.

A reflection on the origins of the Muscogee Genealogical Society reveals how much dedication and hard work was required to establish the genealogical collection at the Bradley Memorial Library. Elizabeth Akers and the “Friends of the Library” (including Frances Belk) provided the vital nucleus from which the “Genealogical Society of Original Muscogee County” sprang in 1976. Such early leaders of the Society as Dexter Jordan and Jimmy Holman laid a secure foundation. We need today the same enthusiastic commitment to the challenge of genealogical research in Muscogee County. As President George W. Bush is fond of saying, “Let’s roll!”

MEDICINE IN MUSCOGEE COUNTY: THE EARLY YEARS

By
Nell Hudson and Butch Deaton

The history of medicine in Muscogee county is both fascinating and enlightening—a physician who was instrumental in the early planning of the City of Columbus—operations on kitchen tables in the early 20th century—a smallpox epidemic as late as 1922. This history shows that medicine evolved from the dedicated, if sometimes poorly trained, physicians and the "pest house" of pioneer days to the highly skilled professionals and the advanced medical technology of today at modern facilities. The involvement of medical personnel with the wider civic community is a big part of Muscogee County’s 175-year history.

From the time Columbus was incorporated, doctors figured prominently in the history of the city. Among the most notable was Dr. Edwin L. de Graffenried, one of the five original commissioners appointed by Governor John Forsyth in 1828 and one of the first physicians here; another was Dr. Francis Orray Tichnor, the poet, who practiced here during the War between the States.

Dr. de Graffenried, born to wealth and position, was educated in one of the oldest and most respected medical colleges in the United States, the University of Pennsylvania. He was, moreover, a person with a deep sense of community responsibility, who worked untiringly for the health and welfare of the area. The Creek Indians, whom the white settlers looked upon as savages, were so grateful to Dr. de Graffenried for his life-saving work among them during a terrible smallpox epidemic, that they would sit in his yard on 12th Street, with blankets over their heads, and chant to invoke blessings upon him.

Dr. Ticknor, author of many widely read poems, was the beloved physician in charge of the emergency hospital in Columbus during the War between the States. At his own home, “Torch Hill”, he nursed back to health a youthful Tennessee soldier, Giffin, who, when pronounced well, made a decision to return to the Army. He became the subject of Dr. Ticknor’s well known military poem, “Little Giffin of Tennessee”.

Medicine during the 19th century was just emerging from the Dark Ages. Surgery was a brutal business, carried out only in cases of dire extremity (as in amputation of gangrenous limbs) with the patient screaming in agony. Even after anesthesia came into use (thanks in large part to a Georgia doctor, Crawford W. Long) surgery remained a terribly risky business. Not until years later did surgeons learn to boil instruments and change bloodsoaked coats between operations. Home remedies, prepared from herbs and plants in formulae handed down through generations, were supplemented by the physician's limited supply of drugs. Calomel, quinine, potassium iodide, bromides, digitalis leaf preparations and sodium salicylate were the most widely used.

In 1880 Columbus became a ghost city. Hundreds had been stricken by smallpox. Several times da day, the black hearse passed through the streets of Columbus with its cargo, more dead than alive, enroute to the Pest House, a stark frame building on the banks of the Chattahoochee which was the first hospital in Columbus. By 1886 it was in such a state of dilapidation that Columbus City Council members were constantly harping about repairs while at the same time wrangling endlessly over the sums spend for medicines (some $1,000 a year). The hospitalized person of 1885 was hardly a patient in today's sense. The old hospital was more a quarantine shelter and for many the last port of call before the grave yard.

Among the doctors practicing in Columbus in 1885 was Dr. Ed B. Schley, the first of four generations of physicians in the Schley family. His nephew, Dr. Francis Vivian Schley, practiced in Columbus from 1896 until his death in 1908. Dr. F. V. Schley's son, Dr. Francis Brookins Schley, practiced here from 1926 until his death in 1957; one of his sons, Dr. F. B. Schley, Jr., became a pediatrician and another son, Dr. Philip T. Schley, practices urology. But even members of the Schley family are not certain where, or if, Dr. Ed Schley got a formal medical education. Like many doctors in the 19th century, he may have learned medicine through an apprenticeship with an older doctor.

In 1890 the Columbus City Council recommended a new hospital be built. Daniel Dozier, who became mayor that year, noted that the city spent $1,200 for the city physician's salary, $175 for the matron's salary, $675.55 for board salary, $904.17 on medicine, $56 on fuel and $106.03 for sundries.
"This expenditure of $3,117.75 we might say, has been for the poor in a city of 19,000 people," Dozier said. He then urged the Council to adopt the recommendation of Board of Health President, Dr. Seth W.
Jordan, "that a suitable and healthy site be purchased and a modern comfortable hospital be built."

The new hospital was built on a lot between Seventh and Eighth Avenues and 15th and Cemetery Streets. The low bid for construction was $6,550 made by E. E. Young; the plumbing contract came to $990. After work was underway the Council decided to finish the attic at a cost of $710, but a plan to add covered walkways from wards to operating room was postponed for lack of funds. The hospital was designed as a two-story building with a cupola. On the first floor a reception room and drug department was separated by a passageway leading to the operating room, which had a cement floor and cream colored, glazed tile walls. ("Floors and walls can be thoroughly scalded after each operation.") Also on the first floor there were to be a dining hall and two rooms with baths attached for pay patients. With the exception of hospitals in one or two large cities it was regarded as the finest in the South. In 1896, the operational cost was $100 per month.

In 1910, Dr. J. H. McDuffie and his associate, Dr. H. Slates Monroe, opened the McDuffie-Monroe Sanitarium at 2015 Thomas Avenue which they operated until 1915. In that year, the third City Hospital opened. It consisted of a modern four-story brick structure facing 19th Street, between 7th and 8th Avenues. For several years City Hospital was primarily a surgical institution, and not until the 1930s did "sick people" go there for treatment.

Dr. James A. Thrash became City Health Officer in 1922 and one of his first acts was to close the old Pest House. "There were between 300 and 400 cases of smallpox in the city and there was no point in isolating 20 or 25," he said. No one could quarrel with his decision. When he first visited the Pest House, he found it infested with rats, crowded with smallpox victims lying without sheets on rotting mattresses on the floor and covered by dirty blankets or quilts. There was no running water or plumbing, only a row of "dry closets" behind the main building. Water for drinking and cooking came from a well in the yard.

The new city health officer also began to arrest the smallpox epidemic by vaccination. With assistance from the Public Health Nurse Association and a platoon of sturdy policemen, block by block was cordoned off, so that one one could escape. The teams went into houses, pulled people from under beds and out of closets and vaccinated them.
Further progress began with the organization of the Muscogee County Medical Society on August 26, 1905. The group consisted of eighteen physicians. Indignation at the lack of high standards for admission of physicians to practice and the flourishing of those who professed to practice some exclusive form of healing had led to the founding of this society. The group elected Dr. C. L. Williams as President, and Dr. C. A. Dexter as Secretary. Dr. J. H. McDuffie presented the first paper before the Society on the topic "Medical Ethics".

During its first year, each member paid dues of 50 cents, but in the course of 1906, there was an assessment of $3.00 annual state dues and $5.00 total dues. This must have been considered rather high, for one-third of the Society's members were under suspension for non-payment of dues during the year. An interesting sidelight occurred in 1906 when the society voted unanimously to send a contribution of $5.00 for the assistance of physicians who sustained losses in the San Francisco earthquake and fire. Unfortunately, the Society treasury never got the money so it was never sent. It should also be noted that in those days a doctor's income was fairly modest. In 1907, Columbus physicians charged $1.00 for an office visit and $2.00 for a home call. Frequently, the doctor's office was located over a drug store, his rent being paid by the pharmacist below who filled most of the doctor's prescriptions.

In the early part of the 20th century several new specialists arrived in Columbus. In 1910, Dr. J. M. Baird, an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist began practice, and in 1918, Dr. James H. McDuffie became the first to practice gynecology in Columbus. The Muscogee County Medical Society honored four of these outstanding physicians on its Fiftieth Anniversary in 1955. The four included Dr. M. L. Cooke, who practiced from 1906-1943, Dr. George S. Murray of Scotland, in practice from 1910-1950, Dr. J. C. Wooldridge who practiced from 1910-1952, and Dr. J. R. Youmans who practiced from 1906-1955. Dr. Cooke was a general practitioner, surgeon and consultant, especially in the surgery of obstetrics. He served as Chief of Staff at the Columbus City Hospital as well as Chief of the Surgical Service for many years. Dr. Murray did general practice, but finally limited his work to Internal Medicine and particularly to cardio-vascular diseases. Dr. Wooldridge confined his work to obstetrics and general practice. When he stopped counting, he had delivered just 140 less than 5,000 babies, and said that he delivered enough babies after he stopped counting to make it over 5,000. He is considered the first...
obstetrician and was surgeon for the Central of Georgia Company for many years.

In the early decades of the 20th century many doctors had mill workers as patients since textile mills furnished the principal source of income in Columbus. Dr. W. P. Jordan recalls that when the workers were paid in cash at noon on Saturday, they would then troop to the doctor’s office to pay their bills in silver dollars. Dr. Jordan, the first urologist in Columbus, came here in 1919 and was the first doctor south of Atlanta to use sodium pentothal intravenously for anesthesia.

Another first for Muscogee County occurred in 1920, when Dr. W. F. Jenkins brought the practice of radiology to Columbus. Dr. Jenkins pioneered in x-ray therapy, owing the first deep x-ray therapy machine in the eastern United States and the third such machine manufactured. Having been trained in Pathology along with Radiology, he also established the first clinical laboratory in conjunction with the X-Ray Department at the Columbus City Hospital.

MUSCOGEE COUNTY BIRTHS AND DEATHS: NEW TRANSCRIPTIONS

by

Daniel Olds

Muscogee County did not issue death or birth certificates prior to January 1919. The county did, however, began maintaining both a “Death Register” and a “Birth Register” in August 1890. As an aid to persons doing genealogical research I have transcribed from the records on file at the Health Department Vital Records Office the 14,915 names of persons whose deaths were reported as having taken place in the county between August 1890 and December 1918.

Also transcribed were the names of the 2,970 births reported in the county between August 1890 and December 1900. (Note the difference in the time frames between the deaths and births). In many cases the name of the child born is not listed, but the parents are identified.

This information about deaths and births has been recorded on CD ROM and/or floppy disk and copies placed in the Bradley Library in Columbus, in the Archives at Columbus State University and in the Washington Library in Macon. In using these new resources, keep in mind that not every death or birth was reported prior to 1919 and probably not after 1919 as well. For persons who died after 1918, one can find a death certificate at the Vital Records Office or search the death index on microfiche available at the Bradley Library. For the names of children who were born after 1900, the Soundex available at the Bradley Library can be used.

Appeal for Research Help.

A project still in process is listing the local newspaper edition and page number where a death, funeral notice or obituary was printed from 1873-1918. Working in reverse chronology, I have listed so far 1,697 entries from December 1918 back to October 1915. More eyes are needed to scan the microfilm of the local newspapers back to 1873. Members of the Muscogee Genealogical Society can contribute to this important project; contact me at wodbo@earthlink.net or telephone (706) 561-0795.
Anniversaries provide occasions for review, stock-taking, and looking ahead. Our Society reached its twenty-fifth year in 2001 so we are at a timely point for examining our organizational roots. As genealogical investigators we are constantly aware of the need for research materials and places to use them. It is entirely fitting, then, that the roots of MGS extend back three years before our formal founding to a small group determined to create a genealogical collection and a research room at the Bradley Library.

At a dinner party in 1973, Elizabeth (Mrs. W. D.) Akers suggested to school superintendent Dr. William Henry Shaw that something ought to be done for genealogical research in the local library. He responded, “All right—you do it!” Elizabeth Akers proved equal to the challenge. She contacted the three DAR chapters in Columbus for help and held a meeting in her living room on September 24, 1973. The group formed a committee called “Friends of the Library” dedicated to establishing and equipping a genealogical room. Those attending included Mrs. Samuel (Elizabeth) Adams, Mrs. Leon Cunningham, Mrs. Robert (Clarice) O’Neal, Mrs. James (Frances) Gordy, Mrs. Richard (Helen) Stoller, Mrs. William (Martha) Abernethy, Mrs. Emory Carey, Mrs. George Mathews, and Mrs. J. Edward (Molly) Stoltz. Mrs. Akers became chair of this action group with Mrs. Stoller treasurer and Mrs. Abernethy as secretary.

The group spent the next few months examining other libraries and collections, then, appropriately on George Washington’s birthday, February 22, 1974, at the home of Martha Abernethy, the “Friends of the Library” formed a book committee. Elizabeth Adams undertook the leadership of this important task; finding money was essential. Over the next two years Elizabeth Akers and the “Friends of the Library” raised $12,700 for a genealogical collection at the Bradley Library. The director of libraries, John Bannister, provided space at the Bradley Library for the “Genealogical and Historical Room”; Brady Wilson served as librarian for the collection.⁠¹ Elizabeth Akers and the “Friends” continued to raise money for books—$20,000 by 1977. For her energetic work and achievement, Elizabeth Akers was recognized by the Columbus Business and Professional Women’s Club as “Woman of the Year” in 1977.²

The “Friends of the Library Committee” stimulated the interest that led to the formation of the Muscogee Genealogical Society. Again, at the home of Elizabeth Akers, on Monday, November 10, 1975, a group of interested people joined with some of the “Friends” to form a provisional organization. Dexter Jordan stepped forward as acting president. The group decided on the name “The Genealogical Society of the Original Muscogee County” and Dexter Jordan appointed LTC (ret) Sam Adams to head a committee to draft a constitution. James Holman gave the group a pleasant surprise when he announced that Miss Myrtle Blackmon would donate shares of General Mills stock to the new Society.

Further organizational details were worked out at a second meeting at Elizabeth Akers’s home on December 22, 1975. Our “founding fathers and mothers” were: Dexter Jordan, Elizabeth Akers, Sam and Elizabeth Adams, Elizabeth Abernethy, Lylla Bussey, Clarice O’Neal, Edge Reid, Molly Stoltz, Louise Thomas, Mrs. A. J. Land, Sandra Ott, and James Holman. The group met again on January 12, 1976, to adopt a constitution and establish standing committees.

Our formal founding document came just days after the nation’s Bicentennial, on July 9, 1976, when attorney William H. Young, III, arranged for the incorporation of the Society in Muscogee County. On July 14, 1976, Ben W. Fortson, Jr., Secretary of State of Georgia, signed the instrument of certification for “The Genealogical Society of the Original Muscogee County, Inc.”

Over the years the Society has sponsored several workshops, initiated the first “walk about” in Linwood Cemetery, held field trips to area libraries and archives, began publication of a journal, MUSCOGIANA, in 1989, and recently assumed sponsorship of a research oriented web page at www.muscogeegenealogy.com. The Archives at the Library, Columbus State University, now assists with the publication of the Society’s journal. Although a number of the original members did not survive to celebrate the Silver Anniversary, the Muscogee Genealogical Society is ready to move forward into a new era of research technology still advancing the cause of genealogy and local history.

MEMBERSHIP LIST OF BETHEL BAPTIST CHURCH – MUSCOGEE COUNTY, GEORGIA

Transcribed by Stephen P. Barber

In 1860, the members of Bethel Baptist Church appointed a committee to examine the church books and to make a record of all members past and present. In August of that year the committee presented its findings and published a list in the church record book. In subsequent years, the list was used to record the transactions of the members, such as deaths, marriages, and transfers of memberships.

The record have been transcribed as they appear in the record book, with the exception of dates, which are transcribed using standard three letter month abbreviations.

Explanation of abbreviations

- By Exper = The person mad a profession of faith and was baptized.
- By Let = The person transferred his or her membership from or to another Baptist church.
- By Excommunication – The person was excommunicated or excluded from church membership due to some unacceptable behavior.
