Submission of Material for Publication

Interested parties are welcome to submit primary source material and journal articles for publication in Muscogiana. Submissions should either be printed on 8½ by 11 paper and mailed to the editor at the address listed below or saved as a Word document and emailed to sprayberry_gary@colstate.edu. To be considered for publication, material must be of cultural, historical and/or genealogical significance to the Columbus/Original Muscogee County, Georgia, area that consists of Harris County, Talbot County, Marion County, Chattahoochee County, and the current Muscogee County. All articles should be footnoted according to the Chicago Manual of Style, and should be 1000 to 5000 words in length. The Editor and the Editorial Board make final decisions on the acceptance of material for publication. Neither the Muscogee Genealogical Society nor Columbus State University can accept responsibility for errors or inaccuracies in material submitted for publication.

Book Reviews

Book reviews of both local titles and general genealogical monographs are accepted for inclusion in Muscogiana. Reviews should be 350-750 words, and should contain an overview of the work and an analysis on the value of the work to genealogists and other researchers in the region. The editor maintains a list of books for review, which is available on request.

Queries

Queries are welcome from members and non-members. Queries are limited to one per issue. There are no charges for queries.

From the Editor's Desk

My first turn as editor of the Muscogiana has proven to be an enjoyable and eye-opening experience, and I would like to thank the editorial board and the Board of Directors of the Muscogee Genealogical Society, especially Callie McGinnis, for the opportunity to work on such a fine publication. I would also like to thank a few individuals who have made significant contributions to the fall 2008 issue and have helped ease the editorial transition. The outgoing editor, Reagan Grimsley, has been a veritable wellspring of advice and insight these past few months, and I know he will be missed by the readers of Muscogiana. I only hope I can maintain the high standards he set during his tenure. Assistant editor Sean Norman has been a pleasure to work with this fall. Without his editing and indexing skills, I would have been lost. He's a true asset to the journal. I would also like to extend my appreciation to Dr. Virginia Causey, my colleague in the History and Geography Department at Columbus State, for recommending me as the successor for Reagan. And last, but not least, I would like to thank our two contributors, Daniel B. Olds and Dr. Hugh I. Rodgers, for their wonderful submissions. Their good work has made my inaugural issue a real joy to put together.

There are a few notable changes in the fall 2008 issue of Muscogiana. First, we have reduced the size of the font from eleven to ten, thus lowering our printing costs. While this may cause a few of our readers (me included) to squint a bit more, we think the economic and environmental benefits are worth it. Second, one of our regular features, “Learning About the Past,” will now appear exclusively in the spring issue. We plan to introduce a brand new section for the fall edition, so stay tuned for that.

Finally, I would like to remind the readers of Muscogiana that we still need your submissions. We are always on the lookout for good articles, book reviews, primary sources, queries, and genealogy. So if you’re working on something, send it in!

"Charter, History and By-Laws of the Anne Elizabeth Shepherd Home, Inc of Columbus, Georgia, Revised Edition 1968"

In the year 1840 a few ladies of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Columbus formed a Society called "The Ladies' Educational and Benevolent Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Columbus." The society had no regular income but money was raised by entertainments, membership fees and donations of all kinds. These ladies worked among the poor in the city, giving help where needed in making homes more comfortable and assisting financially in the education of deserving girls.

In 1845 the ladies enlarged their spheres of usefulness by building a Home for Destitute and Orphan Girls. On December 27, 1845 the Ladies Educational and Benevolent Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church was granted a perpetual charter by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Georgia. A frame building was erected on a large lot comprising the city block between 5th and 6th avenues and 14th & 15th streets. This lot was donated by the City Council. The cost of the frame building and furnishing was $1,385.59. This building was dedicated to the raising and educating of female orphans and destitute children on April 7, 1845 by Reverend Lovick Pierce and Reverend James E. Evans.

This building burned on the night of December 16, 1852. A home was rented in 1853 to shelter the twenty-five girls. In April 1854, through the efforts of Messrs. Richard Patten, Harry Hall, John Russe, John Jones and others, the society was presented with a new brick building, completely furnished, to be used as an Asylum for Female Orphans and Destitute Children.

On February 15, 1854 the charter was amended by changing the name of the Ladies Educational and Benevolent Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Columbus, Georgia, to that of the Ladies Educational and Benevolent Society of the City of Columbus.

The society received most of its income from the investments received from many generous friends and from rentals of various properties. In April 1883, by permission of Council, the land given to the Home by the City was divided into lots and sold for the purpose of investing in a more desirable location for the Home. $11,000 was realized from the sale and part of the money was used for the purchase of a new home site for the orphanage. (The location of this home site is not known at this writing, due to lack of records and history kept in the past.) The rest of the money was deposited in the bank and invested in other property.

In 1924 Colonel W. S. Shepherd bequeathed to the Ladies Educational and Benevolent Society of the City of Columbus his former home. The Shepherd residence known as "Hill House," situated on approximately eight acres of land, was given as a memorial to Colonel Shepherd's mother. Colonel Shepherd stated in his will that the property must be designated and maintained as the "Anne Elizabeth Shepherd Orphans' Home" for dependent orphan girls and could not be used for any other purpose. To legally accept this bequest, the Ladies Educational and Benevolent Society of the City of Columbus had to amend their charter and change their corporate name to the "Anne Elizabeth Shepherd Orphans' Home." At the regular monthly meeting held August 1, 1924, the following resolution was offered by Mrs. W.L. Cooke, seconded by Mrs. Hamlin Ford and unanimously adopted by the board.

"Resolved that the Board of Managers of the Ladies Educational and Benevolent Society accept the bequest of the late Colonel W. S. Shepherd, subject to all the conditions set out in his last will and testament, and will immediately take all necessary steps to comply with same, changing the corporate name of 'The Ladies Educational and Benevolent Society' to the 'Anne Elizabeth Shepherd Orphans' Home,' and that a certified copy of this resolution be sent to the executors, Andrew W. Shepherd and Robert E. Farish."

The girls moved into "Hillhouse" on September 3, 1924. This would be the Anne Elizabeth Shepherd Orphans' Home for the next forty-two years.

During the year of 1963, leaders of our community became increasingly aware of the need for a home for dependent boys of Muscogee County. The Anne Elizabeth Shepherd Orphans' Home was asked to help with this; however, because of the terms of Colonel Shepherd's will, the Home could not legally house boys. The Board of Directors voted to purchase the M. T. McDowell property on Double Churches Road to build a new home. In order to accomplish this, plans for a fund-raising campaign were made and very ably carried out by Mrs. M. C. Jennings. The amount of $127,001.42 was raised.

Plans for the new buildings were drawn, consisting of two cottage style units, each unit accommodating sixteen children and a house parent, and a building to be used for the Administrator's home and office. An existing building on the property was renovated.

The move to the new home was made in June 1965. Shortly after this was done, the Board of Directors voted to change the name to the "Anne Elizabeth Shepherd Home, Incorporated."

The Home continues to be supported by income from money and stocks donated by religious, civic, military groups, and many individuals. Miss Georgia Wilkins, upon her death in 1959, left the Home $10,000; and under the terms of the will of Mrs. Sadie O. Giglio, the Home received approximately $185,000. At the time of the sale of Colonel Shepherd's property the Home received $25,000. The Home has been a member of United Givers since 1956.

Ann Elizabeth Shepherd Home Information 1845 – 1930

Minutes of meetings for May 1870 through June 1874, December 1888 through December 1900 and the years 1907 through 1912 are missing. Some gaps in the missing Minutes were filled in by referring to the Census Records.

In many cases, under Researcher Clues, one will find the phrase "noted as being in the Home." This means that the name of the child simply appeared in the Minutes or in the Census Records and there is no reference showing the exact date the child came to the Home.
In other cases, under Researcher Clues, one will find the phrase "Admitted to the Home," "Taken into the Home" or "Entered the Home" followed by the date the child came to the home.

In many instances the writer of the Minutes used the phrase "given to" to describe the disposition of a child. Indications are that this means that the child was adopted but this may not always be the case since children were often placed with a prospective family for "6 months probation" during which they could be returned to, or taken back by, the Home.

No information extracted from the Minute Books concerning individuals who did not appear in the 1930 census records.

1845 - Our beginning was fueled by the foresight of "The Ladies Educational and Benevolent Society" of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Columbus. The mission of this dedicated group of women was to educate and provide sanctuary for the orphaned and needy children in the rapidly growing town along the banks of the Chattahoochee River.

1924 - Columbus, Georgia - Colonel W. S. Shepherd bequeathed to the Ladies Society the original properties for the home in memory of his mother, Anne Elizabeth Shepherd. The three-story Victorian Anne Elizabeth Shepherd Home (pictured) became a haven for children in need for the next 40 years.

1963 - The Board of Directors for the Shepherd Home, responding to the need for a larger home, purchased 15 acres at 751 Double Churches Road, Columbus, GA — the home's present location.

A Family and a Church:
The Willises and Bethel Baptist Church of Midland, Georgia, 1829-1894

By

Hugh I. Rodgers

At its site on Flat Rock Road in Midland, northeast of the city of Columbus, Georgia, Bethel Baptist Church is the archetypical southern country church. Its serene and dignified white clapboard appearance, complemented by a square-column portico, invites passersby to stop under one of the shade trees in the churchyard. The church building, erected in 1853, is an integral part of Muscogee County's architectural heritage. Its classical Greek Revival style is marred only slightly by the twentieth century addition of a steeple. Although records date from 1829, some maintain that the church began its existence in 1825 at the site of the old Dismuke farm on Warm Springs Road. By either date, Bethel Church is one of the oldest churches in Muscogee County. It also has the distinction of being closely tied with the family of its long-time pastor, Cary Curry Willis.1 The man and the church form a significant element in Muscogee County's history.

In the mid to late eighteenth century, the Baptist movement swept through the Virginia and Carolina backcountry, converting many of the unchurched and former Anglicans, including members of the Willis family of Craven County, North Carolina. Baptists sought to revive in the wilderness of North America the church organization of the New Testament. This church would be free of what they viewed as the erroneous accretions of the intervening centuries and free of state or established religious control.2 This revival eventually found its way into the fertile Neuse River basin of Craven County, home to the large Willis clan, including the sons of Richard Willis and his wife Marthy.3 In 1756, twelve miles from New Bern, brothers James and Joseph Willis helped found the Swifts Creek Baptist congregation. Due to the lack of readily available trained ministers, such frontier congregations made wide use of lay preachers. Both James Willis and brother Joseph became ordained Baptist ministers, beginning a family tradition that would last through the next century. In 1774, Reverend James Willis represented Swifts Creek Baptist Church when it joined the Kihukee Association of Virginia and North Carolina Baptist churches.4

James Willis (b.10 Feb 1717, d. 9 Dec 1798) was married to Susannah Delamar (b. 6 Dec 1720, d. 1 Oct 1793), a descendant of French Huguenot Francis de la Mare. James was active in Craven County public life, as well as being a farmer and shrewd land dealer. This part time preacher's will, written four days before his death, provided evidence of considerable property in land and slaves. After particular bequests, he provided that "the rest of my estate be equally divided amongst my sons: James Willis, if he is in this state, and Joshua Willis, Joel Willis, Joseph Willis and Isaac Willis." The will was proved in the December 1798 Court of Craven County, indicating some haste in settling the estate.

The younger James Willis (b. 4 Aug 1744, NC, d. bef. 4 Jan 1808) married Mary (last name unknown) and, like his father, became a prosperous farmer and family man. He served the cause of American independence in the Craven County Militia in 1781 and 1782. Around 1800, James Willis, his children, and his brother, Joel Willis, moved from North Carolina to Georgia. According to the deed and tax records of Warren County, Georgia, James and his family settled along the tributaries of the Ogeechee River in southern Warren County. James Willis and his sons took part in the 1805 land lottery but drew blanks; they were luckier in the 1807 lottery. Brother Joel Willis, himself a Revolutionary War veteran, drew land lots in Jones County, Georgia, where he became a well-known Baptist preacher. James Willis, now noted as "Sr." in various county records, died intestate in late 1807.

A legal notice dated January 4, 1808, appeared in the Augusta Chronicle of January 23, 1808, announcing the appointment of James Willis (Jr.) and Norwell Robertson as administrators of the estate of the late James Willis, Sr. The "securities" in the amount of $1,600 on the estate were James Willis, Norwell Robertson and George Granberry. It took several years to complete the division of the estate among James Willis, Sr.'s legatees: James Willis, Jr., Zachariah Willis, Joshua Willis, Jacob Willis, Dempsey Willis, Reddin Willis, Mary (Willis) Tignor, and Hugh Henry. Before 1820, the heirs of James Willis, Sr., of Warren County began to scatter across the region. Dempsey, Joshua, Reddin, and Zachariah moved to other Georgia counties; James Willis, Jr., relocated to Alabama; and Jacob Willis, along with the Reverend Norwell Robertson and members of the Granberry family, found their way to Mississippi. Some of the Warren County Willis family would make a connection to the original Muscogee County and the counties formed from it.

10 Reverend Norwell Robertson, a neighbor and one of the administrators on the James Willis estate, was also a Baptist minister. In Covington County, Mississippi, Norwell Robertson organized the Leaf River Baptist Church and held county offices. He was viewed as "the most learned and influential man in this part of Mississippi" before his death in 1855. Jean Strickland and Patricia N. Edwards, Church Records of Covington

Around 1802, Dempsey Willis (b. 11 Mar 1782, in Craven County, NC) married Margaret Curry, the daughter of a Warren County Willis neighbor, Cary Curry. Dempsey Willis appeared on the Baldwin County Tax Digest of 1810. The Currys also moved to Baldwin County, Georgia, where Cary Curry’s 1819 will mentioned his daughter, Margaret Willis, and his grandson and namesake, Cary Curry Willis. Dempsey Willis and his family shifted into Jones County, but before 1840 went west to Talbot County (formed from the original Muscogee County in 1827). He and Margaret had a large family (the census of 1830 indicates five boys and five girls, although by that time several children had already left the nest). Dempsey and his wife lived alone at the time of the 1850 Census for Talbot County. He established a large farm in districts twenty-three and twenty-four of Talbot County; in 1840 he owned twenty slaves. The family remained faithful to the Baptist denomination and reared their children in the faith. While “not wealthy, yet possessing enough of this world’s goods to live in ease and comfort,” Dempsey and Margaret provided their offspring with a basic education and an appreciation for energetic farm work. Dempsey had evidently made distribution of much of his property before his death in 1851. Among his known children were James M. Willis, Mary Willis, Cary Curry Willis, Dempsey Andrew Jackson Willis, Benjamin Franklin Willis, and William H. Willis.

Cary Curry Willis was born on March 24, 1809, during the family’s sojourn in Baldwin County. (His birth date is given as February 24 in one record; the March date appears on his tombstone.) Shortly after the creation of the original Muscogee County, young Cary Curry Willis and his brother, Dempsey Andrew Jackson Willis, also moved. Dempsey A. J. Willis settled in present-day Taylor County, while Cary C. Willis went on to land districts that lay along the subsequent Muscogee-Harris County line. George Granberry (b. 1797, d. 1856), the namesake of a Warren County neighbor of the Willises, also moved to Harris County at this time, where he became a noted Baptist preacher, preceding Cary C. Willis as pastor at Bethel Baptist Church. Cary Willis may have lived for a time in the household of George Granberry.

As their numbers increased in Georgia, Baptist settlers found it desirable to form new churches. By the nineteenth century, Baptist laymen were familiar with the procedures of establishing a church. On June 29, 1829, a small group of Muscogee and Harris County pioneers, finding themselves at a distance from an existing church, constituted a “Baptist Church of Jesus Christ called Bethel.” According to the constitution of the Bethel Baptist Church, thirteen individuals, “having been regularly baptised on a profession of our faith and having received letters of dismission from our respective churches, and believing it to be the duty of all regenerated men and women to form themselves into a religious body or church,” unanimously agreed to be formed into a “Church of Jesus Christ.” Six men and seven women, including Temperance, “a woman of color, the property of Jesse Johns," were the founding members. A doctrinal statement in twelve articles became a part of the church's constitution.

Baptist churches were and are autonomous units, governed by the congregation. According to adopted "rules of decorum," members meet in conference at stated intervals to conduct business, receive new members, select pastors and deacons, and provide for the general good order of the church. Having organized themselves, the church at Bethel immediately “set in conference” on June 29, 1829, and opened a book for the reception of members. “Then came forward Cary C. Willis and was received on an experience of grace.” Thus, Willis became the first person to join the newly formed church. He would remain a member for the next sixty-five years. Nearly three weeks later, on July 11, 1829, the church conference called Reverend Anderson Smith as its first pastor.

As the life of the newly formed Bethel Church began to take shape, so too did the life of Cary Curry Willis. On October 8, 1829, he married Martha Ann Stallings, a daughter of Sanders and Lucy Stallings, in Harris County. This marriage produced eight children in fairly close succession. The eldest, William B. Willis, was born in 1830, a year after the wedding. The responsibility of a growing family did not diminish Cary C. Willis’s attention to his religious development. In recognition of “his pious conversation and godly walk,” Bethel Church elected Cary Willis to the office of deacon in March 1831. From that point on, his spiritual commitment and study led him to the active ministry. On Christmas Eve, 1836, Bethel Church authorized his ordination by a presbytery made up of the Reverends George Granberry, G. B. Waldrup, and Anderson Smith, all of whom had been pastors at Bethel Church. Almost at once, Reverend Willis received a call to serve Liberty Church in Muscogee County as pastor. In 1840 he began a ten-year connection to Harmony Church near Cusseta. Since most congregations only met once or twice a month, one minister could hold several pulpits. Reverend Willis preached as needed at several churches in Harris and Muscogee counties. He held long term pastorates at Bethesda Church and Rehoboth Church in Harris County, at Mt. Zion Church and Harmony Church in Muscogee County, and at Beulah Church in Stewart County.

At a church conference at Bethel on December 26, 1840, Reverend George Granberry informed the group of his resignation as pastor. The members discussed the choice of a new minister, “whereupon Cary C. Willis was unanimously chosen (or nearly so).” The conference then appointed members Nathaniel G. Christmas and Hugh Watt to “apprise him” of the call. On January 23, 1841, Willis accepted. Moving with some deliberation, it was not until November 27, 1841, that a Bethel Church conference ratified “unanimously” the choice of “Bro. Cary C. Willis” as pastor. He held the post until his death in 1894, becoming the longest serving and most beloved pastor in Bethel’s history.

What sort of clergyman was Reverend Cary C. Willis? In the nineteenth century, successful Baptist and Methodist preachers had to develop a revivalist style of "fire and brimstone" sermons that reinforced the faithful and converted the unchurched to an emotional “experience of grace.” Willis’s abilities as an “exhorter” were recounted in 1849 by his friend, Reverend George Granberry:

One of the sessions [of the Columbus Association] was held on the old Muscogee (Methodist) Camp Ground; among the visiting ministers present was Rev. James Davis, of the Western Association, who during an exhortation, became thoroughly aroused; and with a vehemence and natural eloquence that could not be withstood or surpassed, he carried everything by storm. Said Mr. Granberry afterwards: "I've seen two things today that I never expected to see in this life: I've seen James Davis lay Carey Willis in the shade as an exhorter, and I've seen the Baptists beat the Methodists on their own ground."

But fiery oratory was not Cary Willis’s only or even best talent. All extant sources speak of his kind and supportive ministry to members of his congregations. As the decades of his gentle ministerial counseling passed, members came to regard him as "Father Willis." He provided wise and mediating guidance as moderator of Bethel Church conferences and for many years as moderator of the Columbus Baptist Association (formed of Baptist churches in Muscogee and surrounding counties in 1829). Church conferences dealt with the routine, such as appointing someone to keep the meetinghouse in good order (Cary Willis himself did that job for twelve dollar a year for a time), as well disciplining members for failure to attend services or for immoral behavior. As the minute books attest, members could be brought before the church for lying, stealing, fiddling and dancing, selling goods on the Sabbath, "lewd and obscene behavior on the streets of Columbus", and other actions showing "want of that Christian character that he ought to profess." The sins of fornication and adultery came under particular censure: one female who "married a second husband without knowledge of the death of the first" was subject to the penalty of excommunication. Counseling that resulted in repentance might allow the person to be "restored to fellowship." Interestingly, while intoxication with "ardent spirits" was condemned, it was only in the post-Civil War era that abstinence became the standard policy. Slaves who were members fell under the same disciplinary code as white members.

Shortly after he became a member of Bethel Church, Cary Willis joined a committee that sought to obtain a deed for the land on which the church sat. On April 23, 1831, Willis and other committee members reported that Colonel E. B. W. Spivey "purposes to give the church" the property. Nevertheless, by 1850, a church conference appointed a committee to look into the "propriety of building a new house of worship...and to select the place of building." At first the committee suggested that only repairs to the existing building were needed, but in April 1852 the conference decided to erect a new structure. In May 1852, the church acquired two additional parcels of land in lot sixty-three of district nine. For one dollar, James Shivers sold to Cary Willis, Asa Lynch, Thomas Brunson and Daniel Huff, as Trustees of the church, a property "to be used exclusively for a Missionary Baptist Church." That same month, Tillman West sold to the same Trustees for five dollars a strip of land in the same lot, which provided the church access to a spring. The building was completed in 1853 and still stands, as previously noted, on Flat Rock Road.

When Cary Willis was member and pastor, the church building had two front doors: men entered by one, while women came in through the other. They even sat on opposite sides of the hall. The preacher occupied the pulpit just inside the two front doors. Member slaves sat in a gallery or balcony toward the back of the church. The exterior of the church today looks much as it did 155 years ago, even though the interior has undergone several renovations. The most recent renovation took place in the 1960s.

While ministering at Bethel Church (and several others) and looking after the spiritual needs of its members, Cary C. Willis also presided over a growing family. After bearing eight children, Martha Ann Willis died on December 23, 1845 (an event recorded in the Church Minute Book on December 27). Her obituary in the Christian Index noted that her youngest child was "only seventeen days old."²⁴ (The name and fate of this eighth child is a matter of some conjecture and will be addressed in the Willis genealogy, which follows this article.) Reverend Willis soon found another helpmeet in the person of Mary F. Huff, a young widow in his congregation, who had joined Bethel Church in April 1842. On June 16, 1846, Reverend George Granberry officiated at the marriage of Willis and Ms. Huff.²⁵ This union produced nine additional children. Of his seventeen children, Reverend Willis brought thirteen into church membership.

Such a large family required financial support. In the nineteenth century, smaller Baptist congregations did not expect that their preacher would live solely—or, perhaps, even at all—from the contributions of the faithful. Even as late as the 1880s, Bethel Church could only provide a salary of $160 per annum; just before his death, the church managed to pay him $250. By way of comparison, the minister at the much larger First Baptist Church in Columbus received $2,000 during the same period.²⁶ (In terms of current money value, Willis's salary in his late years ranged from $3,600 to $5,700, while the downtown church pastor was in the $40,000 range.) Cary C. Willis therefore prudently invested in land and slaves and became a self-supporting and prosperous farmer. His fields were quite productive; the Columbus Enquirer described his Irish potatoes as "hard to best."²⁷

Most of Willis's property was located in the ninth land district of Muscogee County near the Harris County line. In January 1837, he bought the south half of land lot sixty-eight (101 1/4 acres) from William Ayres for $600.²⁸ He netted a profit of $400 when he sold this lot in 1840. Willis then bought from Eli B. W. Spivey the west half of lot ninety-seven in the ninth district, containing 101 1/4 acres, for $1250. In 1851, Willis purchased land lot 128 (202 1/2 acres) from Asa Lynch for $1500. The following year, he acquired the east half of land lot 197 in district eighteen and the east half of lot ninety-seven in the ninth district (a total of 202 1/2 acres) from the estate of William Russell for $1410. Willis continued to build his land holdings in 1858 when he bought 100 acres in lot 127 in the ninth district from Elias Champion for $1350. That same year the estate of James Champion sold him fifty acres in land lot 137 of the ninth district for $675.29

Thus, over a period of twenty-odd years, Reverend C. C. Willis had put together a farm of about 650 acres in size. The total amount he spent, $6,185, appears small in view of modern real estate prices. Yet, according to one inflation calculator, the land would have been valued at $125,000 in 2007.30 For the 1860 census, he put a value of $7,000 on his real estate (about $159,750 in current dollars). More significantly, Willis owned twenty-seven slaves by 1860 with a census valuation (included in “personal property”) of $19,000 (about $433,600 in 2007 currency). In this regard, Willis occupied a medial position among his neighbors, whose personal property valuations ranged from a high of $66,400, to a low of $425 ($1.5 million to $10,000 in 2007 terms). His friend and fellow Bethel member, Asa Lynch, held real estate valued in 1860 at $10,140 (about $232,000 in 2007) and personal property valued at $36,800 ($840,000 in modern terms).

The aftermath of the Civil War brought a sharp drop in real and personal property values. By 1870 the value of farms in Georgia had declined 51.8% from their pre-war 1860 level. Even so, at the time of the 1870 census, the value of Willis’s real estate was still a comfortable $4,000 (about $61,000 in 2007). Other farms in the neighborhood had similar values in the range of $2,000 to $4,000. Willis’s personal property valuation had, of course, taken a bigger hit, dropping down to $1,500, about eight percent of its pre-war figure.31 Although much reduced from pre-war levels, the Willis family remained in sound financial condition compared to many other Muscogee County residents. In 1870, the average annual wage for a Georgia factory worker was $271; the cash income of rural laborers was much lower.

A solid material base allowed Reverend Willis to take an increasingly larger role in regional church affairs. Almost from the beginning of the Columbus Baptist Association, Cary C. Willis represented Bethel Church at the organization’s annual meetings. In 1836, the Association’s representatives met at Bethel Church, at a time when Bethel had 205 members. In the 1840s the church’s main concerns revolved around missions, Sunday Schools (usually called Sabbath Schools), and publications. C. C. Willis strongly advocated Sunday Schools and African missions. He also headed the publications committee. In that connection, the Association resolved that “the South should produce and sustain a religious literature of her own. ...[W]orks issuing from Europe and the North contain sentiments that are objectionable to the feelings and dangerous to the peace of the Southern churches.”32 Southern resistance to the anti-slavery stance of northern churches had already resulted in the formation of the Southern Baptist Convention in 1845 in Augusta, Georgia.33 The slavery issue also led the Columbus Association to withdraw its support from the American Tract Society in 1857. As noted above, Reverend Willis himself owned slaves. Southern Baptists found scriptural justification for the institution. Most of these texts also stressed the obligations of masters to servants—obligations that some took quite seriously.

Despite the slavery issue, missionary work, both domestic and foreign, remained a central focus for the Baptists. In 1849 the Columbus Association solicited funds from its churches to support a missionary in central Africa. Among the contributions was a $3.62 donation from Bethel's black members. Reverend Willis took the chairmanship of the Association's standing committee on missions and preached the annual missionary sermon. The Association did not neglect local missionary work among the unchurched and among the slaves who continued to be received as church members.

Beginning in the late 1850s, Cary C. Willis represented the Columbus Association at the Georgia Baptist Conventions. The Association elected him as Moderator (presiding officer) of its annual meetings in 1860. He held this important position for over twenty years. The Association did not meet for four years following the outbreak of the Civil War. When annual sessions resumed in 1866, Reverend Willis continued as moderator until the early 1880s. On December 23, 1860, in a renewed vote of confidence, the Bethel Church affirmed that C. C. Willis should "serve the Brethren (sic) as long as he may be disposed...to continue as their Pastor".

For the duration of the Civil War, however, the Willis family and Bethel Church coped with numerous problems brought on by the conflict. On May 25, 1861, the Bethel Church conference resolved: "Owing to the circumstances by which we as a nation are surrounded, ordered...the first and second days of June be set apart as days of fasting and praying." Twice in 1862, the church conference honored the request of President Jefferson Davis to set aside "days of fasting, humiliation and prayer" for the Confederacy. The war brought personal costs to the Willis family. In September 1863, Reverend Willis's son, Thomas J. Willis, was killed at the Battle of Chickamauga. In the same engagement, a nephew, John Willis, a member of Bethel since 1861, also met his death. The church adopted memorial resolutions, praising the Christian lives and brave deaths of the two Willis youths. Bethel Church may have served as a hospital during a part of the war.

The end of the Civil War brought new problems for Bethel Church and the Columbus Baptist Association. The 1866 meeting lamented how "our institutions—political, social and religious—[are] passing through a fiery ordeal," noting that "our people [are] reduced to poverty by the late war." In such circumstances, the support of foreign missionaries became all but impossible. Fund-raising efforts continued, but with ever-diminishing returns.

Somewhat more pressing was the desire of former slaves to form separate congregations. However, this did not happen immediately at Bethel. The church still received new African-American members in the spring and summer of 1866, although it appears that black members had begun meeting separately from white members. On May 23, 1867, the Bethel Church conference agreed that the pastor should administer communion to the "colored members at their regular meetings." A physical separation had commenced, although blacks technically remained members of Bethel. At the end of 1867, Bethel reported 102 white members and seventy-four “colored members”; at the end of 1868, Bethel recorded 116 white members and eighty-three black members. The desire of African-Americans to form their own church organization grew stronger, and at some point before 1872 Reverend Willis provided land for ex-slaves to build a church upon. On May 25, 1872, blacks organized the Locust Hill Missionary Baptist Church, and on October 28, 1872, the Bethel Church conference granted letters of dismissal “to all Col Brothers and Sisters of good standing who desire it.”

Locust Hill Church is still active at its location on Warm Springs Road in Midland.

The separation of the black members reduced the church rolls. Despite valiant efforts, membership in Bethel began to slide as the population shifted from country to city. In January 1879, Bethel Church set up seven committees to “advance the interest of our church and promote the course of Christianity.” The now familiar activities of visitations, caring for the sick, welcoming strangers, encouraging subscriptions to church publications, Sunday school work, and missions could not stem the decline. In 1877, Bethel reported 138 members; by 1890, there were only seventy-nine. (Membership would recover in the twentieth century before experiencing another decline in more recent decades.)

With education remaining a main focus of the church, Reverend C. C. Willis and Bethel members pushed for the formation of Sabbath (Sunday) Schools. The pastor’s son, Edward P. Willis, became superintendent of the Bethel effort. Nor was secular education neglected. In 1878, Bethel Church granted adjacent citizens the right to organize an academy on church property. At the Association level, C. C. Willis organized the first association-wide Sunday School Convention in 1879, which was held at Bethel Church. By that point the Columbus Association reported that a total of 931 “scholars” had enrolled. In a related activity, C. C. Willis, as Chairman of the Education Committee of the Association, stressed the need for every family to subscribe to the Christian Index, the official newspaper of the Georgia Baptist Convention. He led the Association to support a “colporteur” to distribute religious literature and urged (not always successfully) financial support for a ministerial student at Mercer University. Willis warmly spoke up for the education of girls as well as boys and supported the Baptist “female colleges” at La Grange, Rome, Forsyth, and Gainesville.

Besides missions and education, another issue arose in the post-Civil War era: the “traffic in ardent spirits.” The question became urgent when the pastor of Antioch Church in Harris County was found guilty of “frequent intoxication.” The Columbus Baptist Association appointed a Committee on Temperance, which counseled abstinence as the wisest course. But if a person drunk “in excess,” churches might exclude the individual from their fellowship. (In the case of a tipsy pastor, confession and repentance would restore him to the bosom of his church.) Throughout the 1870s and 1880s, temperance continued as a hot button issue and the language grew more condemnatory. From advising against drinking in excess, pastors were soon urged to preach against “the evil” of strong drink. Finally, in 1877, C. C. Willis and others made a motion that the Association should resolve that it was “wrong for members of our churches to make, buy, sell, or drink, intoxicating liquors.” In 1881, the Temperance Committee reported a growing sentiment toward “suppressing the evil.” The long march toward Prohibition had begun.

By the mid-1880s, C. C. Willis, now in his mid-seventies, asked to be relieved of the duties of moderator of the Association, although he continued to represent Bethel Church and remained on the Association's executive committee. In 1888, he was joined by his sons, Edward P. Willis and Dawson
M. Willis, at the Association's annual meeting. That same year, the Columbus Association elected the elderly preacher as delegate to the Southern Baptist Convention. During the winter of 1888-1889, Willis endured a long illness and Bethel Church used a supply pastor.

Recognizing clearly the need to put his affairs in order, on February 17, 1887, Cary C. Willis drew up his last will and testament, to which he added a brief codicil the following year. He named his wife, Mary F. Willis, executrix and his son, Edward P. Willis, executor of the will. He added son Dawson M. Willis as an additional executor when he drew up the codicil on December 28, 1888. He provided that the property, with minor exceptions, should be kept together for the support of his wife and unmarried daughters. After his wife's death, an unmarried daughter would be granted a fourth more than her equal-share with the other children. Allowances made to the married children were to be accounted for in the final division, then each would be granted an equal share of the estate. The share of daughter Jane C. Johnson was to be held in trust for her support by Dawson M. Willis; Edward P. Willis would hold the share of his son Nathaniel C. Willis in trust for his children. His wife, Mary F. Willis, would be given his watch. The codicil somewhat vaguely directed that "when Lovick Dimon whom I have raised shall reach his majority, if he remains with and true to my family" should receive a sum of money left to the discretion of the executors. Withal, he made a fair and equitable distribution of his worldly goods among his wife and children.

Reverend Cary C. Willis managed to hold off the grim reaper for seven more years. In 1892, the Columbus Association offered prayers of "thanksgiving to God for sparing the life of our venerable brother C. C. Willis." In 1893, the Columbus Baptist body was moved to special prayers "for old brother Willis...we would not be surprised at any time to hear of his death." When death did come on February 8, 1894, an outpouring of sincerely expressed grief, affection, and appreciation for his life followed. At its April 21, 1894 meeting, the Bethel Church conference adopted a memorial resolution that praised his faithful service as pastor for fifty-four years, describing him as "the very vital cord which has bound us together so long as a common brotherhood." Later that year, in its annual meeting held at Harmony Church in Chattahoochee County, the Columbus Baptist Association also adopted a memorial resolution. It warmly referred to "our venerable and much esteemed brother, C. C. Willis" and noted that with his death "the cause of Missions has lost a true and efficient worker, and the cause of education has lost an earnest supporter." The body further agreed that a memorial page and a portrait of the deceased should be published in the printed minutes.

Throughout the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, from North Carolina to Georgia, the Willis family had produced several Baptist clergymen. Cary C. Willis's life spanned nearly the whole of the nineteenth century—sixty years of which he spent in the Midland area of Muscogee County—"a period long enough to try a man." He arrived just as Muscogee County opened to white settlement and experienced its transition from rough frontier to a region of settled farms and plantations. He excelled in this economy as farmer and community leader, becoming a model for the nineteenth century southern rural clergyman. In the florid style of the time, an 1881 biography described him as a zealous and passionate preacher, but also a "genial and lovable" friend, "most gentlemanly, honorable and high-toned in all his relations of life;" "tender and conscientious" as a pastor, and "beloved and admired." Even allowing for the extravagant prose of the era, it is clear C. C. Willis had been unusually respected and loved.\(^48\)

He had long associations with churches in Muscogee, Harris, Chattahoochee, and Stewart counties in Georgia, and preached at churches in Russell and Lee counties in Alabama. He guided Bethel Church for more than a half-century, caring for the spiritual needs of both black and white members during much of that time. His unusual personal qualities permitted him to lead his flock through a period of growth, and then provided stability during the era of hardship and decline following the Civil War. His congregation expressed its affection and gratitude by providing for his burial with a monument next to Bethel Church. Now, over a hundred years since his death, traces of his career and long life of service still linger in the social and religious history of Muscogee County and in the lives of his numerous descendants.\(^49\)

\(^49\) In typical nineteenth century fashion, Cary C. Willis was paterfamilias to a large number of children:
eight sons and nine daughters by two wives. A measure of the regard in which they held him is the fact that four of his sons each named one of their sons "Cary" (four first cousins named "Cary" must have made for some confusion at family gatherings). The name also appears among the children of three of his daughters as well.
Cary C. Willis's second wife, his unmarried daughter, and one married daughter rest with him in the same memorial burial plot at Bethel Church. One son was killed in the Civil War; one son, Nathaniel Christmas Willis, moved to Texas then to Oklahoma; one daughter, Jane, moved to Texas but returned to Georgia when her husband died. The rest of the children lived in Muscogee or nearby Georgia counties. Edward P. Willis followed his father's footsteps as church clerk and in 1891 as Moderator of the Columbus Baptist Association. The "Notes on the Family of Cary Curry Willis," which follow this article, are in the Personal Ancestral File format of the Family History Society of Salt Lake City. The PAF has some eccentricities in its spacing and source citation style; the numbers following a person's name refer to source notes at the end of this section. Birth years for individuals were often taken from census reports and may not be accurate. The present writer thanks Willis descendants Lorene Christin and J. Edward Willis for sharing information about this family.

Mary was still single and living at home at the time of the 1880 census. A few years later she married an elderly widowed minister, Reverend William Amos. After his death in 1887, she married T.T. Watt. She is listed in the Bethel Baptist Church Minute Book, 1873-1935, in 1896, 1897, and 1899 as “Mrs. Mary Watt” or as “Mrs. T. Watt.” One “T.T. Watt” is also named. The 1900 Census, Muscogee County, Georgia (Steam Mill), lists the members of the household as Mary Watt (age 62) with Tom Watt (age 33), Charley Watt (age 16), and Harry Watt (age 14).

Mary married (1) Reverend William A. AMOS on 19 August 1882 in Muscogee County, Georgia. William was born in 1804. He died on 2 October 1887 in Muscogee County, Georgia. He was buried in Pierce Chapel Road. Mary married (2) Thomas T. WATT on 25 July 1890 in Muscogee County, Georgia. Thomas died in Columbus, Georgia.

Edward Payson WILLIS was born on 21 April 1841. He died on 1 July 1923.

Nathaniel Christmas WILLIS was born in 1843. He died in 1914.

Martha L. WILLIS was born on 6 December 1845. She died after 1910.

Cary married (2) Mary F. HUFF on 16 June 1846 in Muscogee County, Georgia. Mary was born about 1825 in Lincoln County, Georgia. She died on 3 October 1898 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

Born Mary F. McClendon she had first married Nathaniel M. Huff on 30 November 1841 in Harris County. He was a son of Daniel and Mary Huff, members of Bethel Church. She joined Bethel Church by letter in April 1842. Nathaniel Huff died on 16 December 1843 "after an illness of 19 days, in his 23rd year of age, leaving a disconsolate wife and a numerous train of relatives and friends to mourn his irreparable loss." About eighteen months later she married the widowed C.C. Willis. According to her obituary in the Columbus Enquirer-Sun, 4 October 1898:

"She is survived by seven children and five step children. Her children are Mrs. Beatrice Griffith of Atlanta; Mrs. Ellen Brooks, of Molena; Mr. D.M. Willis of Molena; Mr. C.J. Willis, of this city; Mrs. Ed Johnson, of Greenville, Tex.; Mrs. Lula Almond and Miss Lila Willis of Midland. Her step children are Mr. J.S. Willis, of Hawkinsville, Ga.; Mr. E.P. Willis, of Midland; Mrs. Mary Watt of Muscogee county; Mrs. Mattie Dodd, near Cartersville; Nathaniel Willis, of Indian Territory. ...[She will be interred] beside the remains of her late husband, who died a few years ago, at an advanced age. He was widely known and greatly loved and esteemed by all who knew him."

Cary and Mary had the following children:

Florence C. WILLIS was born on 8 April 1847 in Muscogee County, Georgia. She died on 5 February 1897 in Muscogee County, Georgia. Florence never married and cared for her parents in their old age.

Beatrice Ann Caroline WILLIS was born on 12 March 1849.

Frances Ella WILLIS was born about 1851.

Georgia M. WILLIS was born on 28 October 1852 in Muscogee County, Georgia. She died on 7 August 1896 in Muscogee County, Georgia. She was buried in Bethel Church.

She is buried near her parents at Bethel Church; her husband was born in Harris County, Georgia. A date and place of marriage has not been found. According to her obituary she and her husband, Jonas R. Blow, lived in Brantley, Alabama, although she died at her mother's home in Midland.

Georgia married Jonas R. BLOW son of John W. BLOW and Caroline. Jonas was born in 1859 in Harris County, Georgia.

Cary Judson WILLIS was born about 1855.
15 F  xiv. Jane C. WILLIS was born about 1857 in Muscogee County, Georgia. She died after 1910.

She was named as "Mrs. Ed Johnson of Greenville, Texas" in her mother’s 1898 obituary. The 1900 Census of Greenville, Hunt County, Texas, shows Ed C. Johnson (40) and Janie Johnson (40); a child, Bessie Green, age 8, is in this household. In the 1910 Census Jane Johnson appears in the household of her sister, Ella Brooks, near Molen, Pike County, Georgia.

Jane married Ed C. JOHNSON.

+ 16 M  xv. Dawson Moses WILLIS was born on 5 February 1860. She died on 3 January 1927.

+ 17 F  xvi. Lula WILLIS was born on 12 December 1863. She died on 27 November 1951.

18 F  xvii. Lila (Lillie) WILLIS was born about 1865 in Muscogee County, Georgia. She died after 1898.

So far as could be determined from public records Lila never married.

Second Generation

2. William B. WILLIS14 (Cary Curry) was born in 1830 in Muscogee County, Georgia. He died before 1898 in Chattahoochee County, Georgia.

He became a church member in September 1847 and received a letter of dismission in February 1852. He served as 2nd Lieutenant in the Georgia Volunteer Infantry in 1861; resigned that same year, then enlisted as a private in Company B, 6th Regiment, Georgia Militia, July 1864, elected Captain in 1864. He lived in Chattahoochee County. He and Lucinda had nine children. See the Census 1880, Jamestown, Chattahoochee County, Georgia. His tombstone provides no dates.

William married15 (1) Lucinda MCCLENDON on 12 December 1850 in Muscogee County, Georgia. Lucinda died before November 1883 in Chattahoochee County, Georgia.

They had the following children:

19 M  i. Thomas D. WILLIS was born in 1854.

20 M  ii. Charles D. WILLIS was born on 5 January 1858. He died on 15 May 1898. He was buried in Riverdale Cemetery.

21 F  iii. Mattie F. WILLIS was born in 1861 in Chattahoochee County, Georgia. She died on 8 February 1908 in Americus, Georgia. She was buried in Oak Grove Cemetery, Americus, Georgia.

22 M  iv. William J. WILLIS was born in 1865.

23 M  v. Robert L. WILLIS was born in 1867.
24 F vi. Ella WILLIS was born in 1869.

25 F vii. Loula WILLIS was born in 1873.

26 M viii. Edgar WILLIS was born in 1875.

27 M ix. Emmett WILLIS was born in 1877.

William married\textsuperscript{16} (2) Georgia A. AUSTIN on 14 November 1883.

4. Jesse Stallings WILLIS\textsuperscript{17} (Cary Curry) was born in 1834 in Muscogee County, Georgia. He died on 16 August 1910 in Hawkinsville, Pulaski County, Georgia. He was buried in Orange Hill Cemetery.

He was admitted to membership in Bethel Church in September 1847; Jesse S. Willis requested a letter of dismission in January 1854. He became a well-known merchant and cotton buyer in Hawkinsville, Pulaski County, Georgia. The 1880 Census for that county (p. 323D) shows seven children in the household. This couple also appears in the 1900 and 1910 censuses of Pulaski County, Georgia, in Hawkinsville.

Jesse married\textsuperscript{18} Amanda D. HORNE on 24 May 1859 in Dooly County, Georgia. Amanda was born on 25 September 1842. She died on 29 May 1912 in Pulaski County, Georgia. She was buried in Orange Hill Cemetery.

They had the following children:

28 F i. Mattie Clara WILLIS was born in 1860. She died in 1917 in Hawkinsville, Georgia.

29 M ii. Julien B. WILLIS was born in 1866 in Pulaski County, Georgia. He died in 1904.

30 M iii. William C. WILLIS was born about 1869 in Pulaski County, Georgia.

31 F iv. Annie F. WILLIS was born about 1871 in Pulaski County, Georgia.

32 M v. George WILLIS was born about 1874 in Pulaski County, Georgia.

33 F vi. Sadie WILLIS was born about 1876 in Pulaski County, Georgia.

34 F vii. Mary Clyde WILLIS was born in 1879 in Pulaski County, Georgia. She died in 1964 in Pulaski County, Georgia.

7. Edward Payson WILLIS\textsuperscript{19} (Cary Curry) was born on 21 April 1841 in Muscogee County, Georgia. He died on 1 July 1923 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

He was baptized by his father in 1860. A farmer; after his first wife S.E. “Lizzie” Carter died he married her sister “Mattie” Carter in 1898. The Carters were a Talbot County family although some Carters were members of Bethel Church. The 1880 and 1900 Censuses for Muscogee County name his children. He appears many times in the Bethel Church Minute Books as church clerk and also in the minutes of the Columbus Baptist Association Annual Meetings.
Edward married (1) Sarah Elizabeth Carter "Lizzie" daughter of Jehu Neal CARTER and Mary. Sarah was born on 29 July 1846 in Talbot County, Georgia. She died on 13 April 1895 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

Bethel County Minute Book, 1873-1935, has a memorial resolution for Mrs. E.P. Willis on 23 May 1895. Her tombstone reads: "Lizzie Willis, Wife of E.P. Willis, Daughter of Neal & Mary Carter 29 July 1846 – 13 April 1895." One Mary Carter (b. 1811, d. 1865) is on the membership rolls of Bethel Church. In this cemetery is also buried Lizzie's brother, John Neal Carter (1849-1882). Lizzie's sister, Martha Julie "Mattie" Carter, became Edward P. Willis's second wife. Their parents were Jehu Neal Carter and Mary; their grandfather was Jesse Carter of Talbot County who named his grandchildren in his will.

Edward and Sarah had the following the children:

35 M i. Robert Homer WILLIS was born about 1866 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

36 M ii. J.G. WILLIS was born about 1868 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

37 F iii. Eddie Darling WILLIS was born about 1873 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

38 F iv. Eva WILLIS was born in July 1881 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

39 F v. Bessie WILLIS was born in July 1883 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

40 M vi. Carey Cecil WILLIS was born in February 1886 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

Edward married (2) Martha Julia CARTER "Mattie" on 11 November 1898 in Muscogee County, Georgia. Martha was born on 26 August 1853 in Talbot County, Georgia. She died on 21 November 1942 in Columbus, Georgia. She was buried in Riverdale Cemetery.

Originally from Talbot County, one of three daughters of Jehu Neal Carter and Mary Carter. According to her obituary, she raised her sister (Mary Susan Carter Lennard)'s son, Joe E. Lennard, as her "son" following her sister's death at childbirth. Also, her obituary notes that she was a sister of Robert F. Carter, "prominent merchant and planter of Ellerslie." She was buried in Riverdale Cemetery. (Also buried in Riverdale Cemetery is "Mattie Carter Lennard, b. 1873, dau. of J.M. Lennard, d. 1894." James M. Leonard and Mary Susan Carter married in Talbot County, Georgia, 24 March 1859. They were on the Bethel Church rolls in 1860. The surname is spelled "Lennard" and "Leonard" in the records.)

8. Nathaniel Christmas WILLIS (Cary Curry) was born in 1843 in Muscogee County, Georgia. He died in 1914 in Oklahoma. He was buried in Oklahoma.

He was named for near neighbor and member of Bethel Church since 1834, Nathaniel G. Christmas. In his will, drawn on 7 October 1848, Nathaniel Christmas left Nathaniel Christmas Willis, "the son of my friend Cary C. Willis, a negro boy by the name of Henry." Cary Willis was one of the witnesses to the will. Nathaniel C. Willis moved to Arkansas before 1870, then to Grayson County, Texas, before 1880. When the "Indian Territory" (later Oklahoma) was opened for white settlement in 1889, he moved there. The 1880 Census for Grayson County, Texas, and the 1900 Census for township 5, Choctaw Nation, Indian Territory, shows seven children. He and his wife were living in Bryan County, Oklahoma, at the time of the 1910 Census.

Nathaniel married Fletcher N. PEDDY on 10 September 1865 in Muscogee County, Georgia. Fletcher was born about 1846.

They had the following children:

41 F  i. Mary B. WILLIS was born about 1868 in Georgia.

42 M  ii. George W. WILLIS was born about 1870 in Arkansas.

43 F  iii. Fletcher E. WILLIS was born about 1872 in Arkansas.

44 M  iv. Cary F. WILLIS was born about 1876 in Arkansas.

45 F  v. Florence WILLIS was born in 1878 in Texas.

46 F  vi. Clarria B. WILLIS was born in 1883 in Texas.

47 M  vii. Boylen WILLIS was born in 1885 in Texas.

9. Martha L. WILLIS (Cary Curry) was born on 6 December 1845 in Muscogee County, Georgia. She died after 1910 in Georgia.

The obituary of the second Mrs. C.C. Willis in the Columbus Enquirer-Sun, 4 October 1898, names a stepdaughter, “Mrs. Mattie Dodd, near Cartersville” (Bartow County, Georgia). A Martha Dodd, as wife of Joseph S. Dodd, with birth date of December 1845, does appear in the 1870, 1880, and 1900 censuses for Bartow County. Martha Dodd’s widow’s pension application on her husband’s Confederate Service, dated in 1911, can be read in the “Virtual Vault” on the GDAH web page; it gives her maiden name as Willis. She had two surviving sons, one named Arthur WILLIS Dodd and one named Joseph CARY Dodd, indicating a connection to Reverend Cary C. Willis. The obituary of the Reverend C.C. Willis’s first wife noted an infant only seventeen days old. That child seems to have been Martha L. Willis Dodd. The problem is the undocumented twenty years after Martha/Mattie’s birth in December 1845. It seems inconsistent with what is known about Reverend C.C. Willis’s character that his child was placed permanently with another family. Martha/Mattie cannot be found in the 1850 and 1860 censuses with any certainty (she is not in C.C. Willis’s household). If she was placed in the care of another family she may be listed in census reports under that family’s name. (There is one Martha Willis in the household of S.T. Carter in Thomasville, Thomas County, Georgia, in the 1860 Census.) The marriage of “J.S. Dodd” and “M.L. Willis” in Macon County, Alabama, in 1865, seems to be the Bartow County, Georgia couple. “Mrs. Mattie Dodd, near Cartersville” is likely to have been the surviving eighth child of C.C. Willis and Martha Ann.

Martha married Joseph C. DODD, son of Christopher DODD and Sarah, on 20 July 1865 in Macon County, Alabama. Joseph was born in 1845 in Georgia. He died on 23 October 1906 in Bartow County, Georgia.

See Cass/Bartow County Census reports for 1850 through 1900 for Joseph C. Dodd. His obituary and tribute appeared in the Cartersville News, 1 November 1906 and 15 November 1906.
Joseph and Martha had the following children:

48 F  i. Willie DODD was born about 1866 in Bartow County, Georgia.

49 F  ii. Eddie DODD was born in January 1868 in Bartow County, Georgia.

50 F  iii. Florence DODD was born in January 1872 in Bartow County, Georgia.

51 M  iv. Arthur Willis DODD was born in April 1875 in Bartow County, Georgia.

52 M  v. Joseph Cary DODD was born in January 1877 in Bartow County, Georgia.

53 M  vi. David DODD was born about 1878 in Bartow County, Georgia.

54 F  vii. Ida Pearl DODD was born in November 1880 in Bartow County, Georgia.

55 F  viii. Martha DODD was born in October 1882 in Bartow County, Georgia.

56 F  ix. Mary DODD was born in October 1882 in Bartow County, Georgia.

57 F  x. Sallie DODD was born in August 1884 in Bartow County, Georgia.

58 F  xi. Lila DODD was born in October 1887 in Bartow County, Georgia.

11. Beatrice Ann Caroline WILLIS\(^{25}\) (Cary Curry) was born on 12 March 1849 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

A date and place of her marriage could not be documented by this researcher. In the 1910 census, she was noted as the mother of seven children, six of whom were living. In the mid-1870s she accompanied her husband to Texas where some of the children were born. She is mentioned in the Butler Herald of 3 July 1894 as Mrs. W.L. Griffith of Columbus whose ten year old son Howard drowned. She appears on the 1900 Census for Fulton County, Georgia, Enumeration District 80, with three sons, ages 21 to 12. In the same household is her daughter Florence L. Innis, and son-in-law William P. Innis, with two children. By the time of the 1910 census Beatrice is living in the household of her sister, Lula Almond, and her husband, in Muscogee County. Then by 1920, she lived with her son Walter Griffith in Davidson County, Tennessee. (There is undocumented data in FamilySearch.org, IGI, of her marriage in 1867 to William L. Griffith; another IGI submission puts her marriage in 1871, and her date of death as 18 August 1941. This could not be confirmed in Muscogee County marriage records. Her death could not be confirmed in the Georgia Death Index.)

Beatrice married William Leroy GRIFFITH.\(^{26}\) William was born in 1847 in Taylor County, Georgia. He died on 28 April 1891 in Taylor County, Georgia.
William L. Griffith was the son of a Methodist family that produced several preachers; he moved his family to Texas where he served as a missionary before returning to Taylor County, where he died. His death notice appeared in the Butler Herald, 5 May 1891.

William and Beatrice had the following children:

- 59 M i. James Willis GRIFFITH was born in 1871 in Georgia.
- 60 M ii. Edward GRIFFITH was born in 1873 in Georgia.
- 61 F iii. Florence L. GRIFFITH was born in April 1876 in Georgia.
- 62 M iv. Harry H. GRIFFITH was born in January 1879 in Georgia.
- 63 M v. Walter Roy GRIFFITH was born in January 1882 in Texas.
- 64 M vi. Howard GRIFFITH was born in 1884. He died in 1894 in Muscogee County, Georgia.
- 65 M vii. Ignatious GRIFFITH was born in February 1888 in Texas.

12. Frances Ella WILLIS (Cary Curry) was born about 1851 in Muscogee County, Georgia. She died in Pike County, Georgia.

She may have been married to Henry Turnage (1866) before her marriage to Brooks. She lived in Molena in Pike County, Georgia, not far from her brother, Dawson M. Willis. She had one known child, a son. See the 1910 Census for Pike County. Jane C. Johnson, her sister, was in her household at the time.

Frances married John Newell BROOKS about 1872.

He was a merchant in Molena, Pike County, Georgia, and active in the Molena Baptist Church.

John and Francis had the following children:

- 66 M i. John Willis BROOKS was born about 1893.

14. Cary Judson WILLIS (Cary Curry) was born about 1855 in Muscogee County, Georgia. He died in Muscogee County, Georgia.

Identified in his mother's obituary as "C.J. Willis" of Columbus. He was a member of the Columbus Police Department. In the 1900 Census for Muscogee County is a C.J. Willis, no age given, with Emma (age 47), and children: Claude and C.C., possibly twins as they have the same age (12); and Mattie, age ten. They are boarding in the household of Jas. R. Ramsey. An obituary for Mrs. C.J. Willis on 3 January 1915, named a son, Cary C. Willis, a daughter, Mrs. J.T. Whatley, and sisters Mattie and Claude Watt and Mrs. J.R. Ramsey, all of Columbus. The Watt and Ramsey families were early members of Bethel Church.

Cary married Emma WATT, daughter of Reverend James M. WATT and Theresa, on 14 January 1886 in Muscogee County, Georgia. Emma died on 2 January 1915 in Columbus, Georgia.
They had the following children:

67 F  i.  Claude WILLIS

68 M  ii.  Cary C. WILLIS was born about 1888 in Columbus, Georgia.

69 F  iii.  Mattie WILLIS was born about 1890 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

16. Dawson Moses WILLIS\(^{30}\) (Cary Curry) was born on 5 February 1860 in Muscogee County, Georgia. He died on 3 January 1927 in Pike County, Georgia. He was buried in Molena Cemetery.

Dawson’s wife had the very Confederateally patriotic name of Jefferson Davis. The 1900, 1910, and 1920 Censuses for Pike County, Georgia, shows Dawson M. Willis with wife “Jeff” and children. He was a well-established merchant and cotton buyer in Molena and pillar of the Molena Baptist Church. (Lynn Cunningham, 544 West Road, Williamson, Georgia, 30393, provided some data on this family.)

Dawson married Jefferson Davis BAKER on 27 October 1891 in Pike County, Georgia. Jefferson was born 2 January 1862 in Pike County, Georgia. She died on 5 January 1918 in Pike County, Georgia.

They had the following children:

70 F  i.  Lucille WILLIS was born about 1893.

71 M  ii.  Cary WILLIS was born about 1895.

72 M  iii.  Paul WILLIS was born about 1897.

73 F  iv.  Bessie WILLIS was born about 1900.

74 F  v.  Ruth WILLIS was born about 1903.

17. Lula WILLIS\(^{31}\) (Cary Curry) was born on 12 December 1863 in Muscogee County, Georgia. She died on 27 November 1951 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

The 1900 Census for Muscogee County, Georgia, names the children of this couple. Her obituary identifies her daughters as Mrs. W.O. Reich of Columbus, Mrs. P.J. Bolinger of Anniston, Alabama, and a son, R.H. Almond, of Atlanta. Lula married Richard Henry ALMOND\(^{32}\) about 1878. Richard was born on 13 January 1853 in Muscogee County, Georgia. He died on 14 September 1916 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

They had the following children:

75 M  i.  Cary C. ALMOND was born in 1880 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

76 F  ii.  Emily R. ALMOND was born about 1884 in Muscogee County, Georgia.
Mary A. ALMOND was born about 1891 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

Florence L. ALMOND was born about 1894 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

Richard H. ALMOND was born in 1897 in Muscogee County, Georgia.

Harris County

Harris County was laid out from Troup and Muscogee in 1827. A part was given back to Muscogee in 1829. It was named in honor of Charles Harris, Esq., an eminent jurist of Savannah. It is bounded on the north by Troup and Meriwether counties, on the east by Talbot, on the south by Muscogee, and on the west by the State of Alabama, from which it is separated by the Chattahoochee river. It is well watered by Mulberry, Sowhachee, Standing Boy, West End, Flat Shoals, Old House and Mountain creeks, all of which empty into the Chattahoochee.

The face of the country is much varied, and so is the soil. The Pine Mountains enter the county near its northeastern corner, and Oak Mountain on the east. Above the Pine Mountains the country is level with a light soil, productive when new, but not lasting. West of the center it is a broken, rich country, heavily timbered. In the valley between Oak and Pine Mountains the soil is gray, while the growth is Spanish oak and hickory. South of the Oak Mountain all the way down Mulberry creek to its union with Chattahoochee river, the soil is rich. With lands so widely different in point of fertility, the averages of production differ according to location of land as well as manner of cultivation. The average production to the acre is: seed cotton, 600 to 900 pounds; corn, 8 to 15 bushels; oats, 15 to 25 bushels; wheat, 8 to 10 bushels; rye, 5 to 8 bushels; barley, 20 to 50 bushels; sugar-cane, 75 to 300 gallons of syrup to the acre; Irish potatoes, 50 bushels; sweet potatoes, 50 to 100 bushels; field-peas, 5 to 10 bushels; ground-peas, 10 to 20 bushels; crab-grass hay, 2,500 pounds; corn fodder, 450 pounds.

There are no dairy farms, but most families have milch-cows. The total number in 1890 was 2,847, with a production of 671,384 gallons of milk and 200,661 pounds of butter.

A good deal of interest is manifested in the rearing of beef cattle, and this has led to improvement of the breed. The total of all kinds of neat cattle in 1890 was 6,962. Much attention is given to poultry, and the domestic fowls of all kinds numbered 87,571, and produced 125,679 dozens of eggs. The product of the bee-hives amounted to 20,803 pounds. Four hundred and forty-five sheep gave a wool-clip of 944 pounds. There were 8,518 swine, 890 horses, 2,213 mules, 7 donkeys, and 313 oxen.

Vegetables of every kind are raised, and fruits of many varieties, but almost exclusively for home use.
Pine and Oak Mountains afford large quantities of lumber which the sawmills are getting ready for building or manufacturing purposes. The sawmills are generally operated by steam.

The Chattahoochee river abounds in water-power for factories of all kinds. Some of the citizens of West Point, just across the line in Troup county, availing themselves of these water-powers, have established cotton-mills on the river just below the town, extending into Harris county. The citizens are anxious for cotton factories and cotton seed oil-mills.

Hamilton, the county site, with a population of 418, on a branch of the Central Railroad, is beautifully located between Pine and Oak Mountains. The court-house cost about $12,000. The Methodists and Baptists have churches here. There are good schools, one for boys and one for girls. The Hamilton district has 2,278 inhabitants. The whole county is well supplied with schools and churches. Hamilton is 22½ miles from each of the following cities and towns: Columbus, LaGrange, West Point, Talbotton and Greenville. Hamilton has a canning factory, a broom factory, and a shoe factory.

Chipley, on the Central Railroad, has bank with a capital of $25,000 and two sawmills. On this same road are Summit and Cataula. Ellerslie, Waverly Hall and Shiloh are on the Southern.

There are altogether 66 miles of railroad in the county. The cotton receipts and shipments from railroad stations in the county number 12,500 bales, and according to the United States census for 1900, for the season of 1899-1900, there were ginned 22,852 bales of upland cotton in Harris county.

The area of Harris county is 486 square miles, or 311,040 acres. Population in 1900, 18,009, an increase of 1,212 since 1890; school fund $12,355.43.

By the Comptroller-General's report for 1900 there are: acres of improved land, 268,194; of wild land, $3,901; average value to the acre of improved land, $3.14; of wild land, $0.74; city property, $104,168; money, $120,340; merchandise, $61,500; stocks and bonds, $11,280; cotton manufactures, $92,100; mining, $800; value of household furniture, $73,828; farm and other animals, $160,591; plantation and mechanical tools, $35,861; watches, jewelry, etc., $3,718; value of all other property, $38,828; real estate, $958,733; personal estate, $641,985. Aggregate property, $1,600,718.

Property returned by colored taxpayers: number of acres of land, 12,513; value, $34,962; city property, $2,885; merchandise, $150; household furniture, $13,769; farm and other animals, $31,317; plantation and mechanical tools, $6,960; value of all other property, $13,261. Aggregate property, $116,084.

The tax returns for 1901 show an increase of $90,044 in the value of all property since 1900.

In the 39 schools for whites there is an average attendance of 939, and in the 51 for colored the average attendance is 1,662.

Population of Harris county by sex and color, according to the census of 1900: white males, 2,884; white females, 2,939; total white, 5,823; colored males, 5,999; colored females, 6,187; total colored, 12,186.

Domestic animals in barns and inclosures (sic), not on farms or ranges, June 1, 1900: 21 calves, 11 steers, 19 dairy cows, 21 horses, 31 swine, 1 goat.
